The Great Depression, a giant economic crisis, started in the United States in 1929 and spread throughout the world. While today's economic turmoil is quite serious, the Great Depression was much more devastating. From 1929 to 1933, stock prices declined by 90%, causing huge losses throughout the business world. Unemployment rose dramatically to the point where about 25% of all workers were without jobs. And by March 1933, over 5,000 banks had failed, wiping out the savings of millions of Americans. The U.S. government took drastic action by enacting the New Deal, a huge package of relief programs. Although the Great Depression caused great hardship, people learned many important lessons, such as the need to save money, borrow less, and plan for the future. In today's harsh economic times, we certainly can't afford to forget such lessons.

二、中譯英：請將下列中文段落翻譯成英文(20分)

北韓並非亞洲唯一一個可能即將成功建立核武的國家。日本往往名列大多數人觀察名單的首位，因為日本的確擁有先進的核能計畫，一項能源生產和平計畫。一般相信日本有能力在幾個月內建造核子武器，但是分析家相信日本可能會因政治理由而自我克制。日本新任首相已強調日本政府反對核武的立場，而且自從廣島原爆以來，核武禁忌仍在日本國家基本立場中占有重要地位。

Ever heard the expression “Necessity is the mother of invention”? It means that if you need something badly 13, you’ll invent it yourself. I know that’s true for me. I grew up with five sisters and no brothers. With that many kids in one house, I had to 14 invent new ways of protecting my stuff. My favorite is a battery-powered noisemaker I hooked up to the door of my bedroom. My mom didn’t 15 this invention because it scared her every time she went into my room, but it surely kept my sisters out. My bumper car project was also great for scaring them. I would cover it with a dark cloth and yell “Mouse!” 16 it ran past them. I guess they might say I was a naughty brother, but I’d like to think I was just making life more interesting.

In two states in India, Andhra Pradesh and Chattisgarh, farmers have discovered a new kind of pesticide. Instead of paying large sums of money to international chemical companies for chemical pesticides, they are spraying their cotton and chili pepper field with Coca-Cola.

In the past month there have been reports of hundreds of farmers spraying cola on their fields. Thousands of others are expected to make the switch to cola from the usual pesticides as word spreads about the new spray. A farmer in Andhra Pradesh interviewed by a local newspaper said he was very satisfied with his new cola spray, which he applied this year to several acres of cotton. He observed that the insects on his cotton plants began to die soon after he sprayed his field with cola.

Local agriculture officials would not comment on this new development, except to note that the cola spray cost considerably less than the pesticides produced by Monsanto, Shell and Dow Chemical. The Coca-Cola Company already is in legal difficulties in Andhra Pradesh state, where it has been accused of taking water away from farmers for its bottling plants. So far, representatives of the Coca-Cola Company have refused to comment on the new use of their product. It is not known if or how sales of the soft drinks have been affected, though it is likely that the company may try to profit from this new market.

(B) The company is getting lawyers to sue these farmers.
(C) The new use has not been approved by local officials yet.
(D) The product might be harmful to humans as it can kill insects.

How tall are you? Are you a skateboarder? Do you like to knit? Whoever you are, whatever you do, there is a scholarship for you!

Sure, there are scholarships for good athletes or for good students in need. But, what about the rest of us? In fact, there are some very surprising scholarships for everyone else. Believe it or not, there is a scholarship for skateboarders with a GPA of 2.5 or higher. These student skateboarders can receive $5,000 or $1,000 awards. Don't worry, short people, there is a scholarship for you if you are 4'10" or shorter. You can get $1,000, too. Finally, a wool competition awards $1,000 and $2,000 to students who knit wool clothes with excellent design and creativity.
